FAILS TO DEVELOP INAUGURATION JOY

Crowds Which Usually Flock to Capital do Not Show Up

GAIETY IS LACKING

Ancient Pomp is Shelved in Severe Semplicity of The Program—Wilson to Accompany Harding.

Washington, March 3.—The inauguration of President-elect Harding approaches with perhaps less jubilation arising on the Washington air than in any inauguration since Lincoln's time. In the rigorously simple ceremonies arranged, the Republicans are unable to develop a volume of joy sufficient to overcome the depression of the Democrats, a depression which many Republicans, indeed, share.

This depression was deepened by the death of former Speaker Champ Clark, long a power in Washington's official life.

Government buildings are raising bunting, but they are scattered. Pennsylvania Avenue, ordinarily a flutter at this time, before the incoming of a new President, is almost grave. Now and then a flag is seen flying from the top of some building or maybe a lithograph of Mr. Harding is pasted against a window. That is about all of the outward and visible signs.

Even the street peddler, with his panel of medals bearing the likeness of the new President, surrounedd by tiny bits of the American colors, is scarce. Only one was to be seen in the upper part of the Pennsylvania avenue section yesterday afternoon. He should have scores of noisy, picturesque rivals. And the flower vendors, so attractive a feature in Washington public days, were almost as few in numbers as his noisy associate in street business.

In the absence of these street tradesmen is to be seen shrewd sensing of the measure of the inauguration crowd. Those experts in measurement of public outpourings fore saw that no parade and no ball probably would mean no great massing of people here. Thus far their judgment has been justified.

Yesterday evening, there was a sparkle of life about the Willard, where many of the national and State leaders of the Republican party are gathering, with their wives, and daughters, and where Mr. Harding is to make his headquarters, after his arrival in Washington about midday today, and until he leaves to take the oath of office. But, for all that, there is no great press in the Willard lobbies, and Peacock Alley has seen many an evening more populous, more spirited. In the other prominent hotels, the same view is presented, varyingly only in size according to the variation in the size of the place

Perhaps there will be more people here tomorrow. The railroads officials speak in an almost hopeful way of the special trains that are to come The hotel people refuse to believe that they will not have the old, profitable jam. Along the avenue small merchants and small hotels are selling seats to those who will not understand that the inauguration procession will be Spartan in its simplicity.

So, in the final settlement of Friday's procedure the decisions were such as would please the severest critic of ostentation or extravagance President elect Harding, after his arrival here today, will spend the time quietly until 10:30 Friday morning. At that hour the Congressional committee will call upon him at the Willard and, with Mrs. Harding, he will accompany the committee to the White House. There President and Mrs. Wilson will join the party.

They will proceed down Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol. In the first car will be Mr. Wilson, Mr. Harding, Senator Knox and Representative Cannon. In the next car will be Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Harding and other members of the Congressional committee. The third car will carry the incoming and outgoing Vice-President, and another car will have Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Coolidge. Behind will come cars bearing Secret Service men and reporters. A short, swift procession, requiring only a few moments to pass a given point. And the only touch of pomp will be given by the two troops of cavalry from Fort Myer, Virginia, that have been selected as the Presidential escort, barring 500 infantrymen from Camp Meade who will serve as policemen.

At the Capitol Mr. Wilson and Mr. Harding will go to the President's room. The retiring President will sign bills, and the incoming will talk with intimate friends for a few moments. Soon afterward they will go to the Senate and, seated side by side, will observe the taking of the oath by Vice President Coolidge and the brief addresses. President Harding will then be escorted to the stand outside the Capitol, where he will take the oath and deliver his inaugural address.

Mr. Wilson will go with him, if his physical strength withstands the strain of the day. It is believed that he will be unable to do so, anxious though he is to show every courtesy to his successor, and that he will go directly to his new home on S street

There Mr. Wilson will receive informally Democratic Senate leaders and other official friends.

The inauguration completed, President Harding will drive with Mrs. Harding to the White House, accompanied by two troops of cavalry, and the Wilson administration will have passed into history.

CHAMP CLARK PAYS DEBT OF NATURE

Congress Will Pay Respects Saturday in Manner Seldom Duplicated

COLLEGUES MOVED

Grandson's Death Hastened End—Served 26 Years in Congress—Had Spectacular Rise

Washington, March 3. — Death closed yesterday the career of Champ Clark, of Missouri, for more than a quarter century a towering figure in national politics, a stalwart of stalwarts in the Democratic Party.

He died in the very shadow of the Capitol. Just over the way from the hotel where he had lived many years, House and Senate seethed in the closing hours of the Congress of which he was an honored member and leader. The stir of legislative battle was with him to the end. He lived again in memory, as his pulse flagged, days of the eight years he wielded the Speaker's gavel in the House. Those sorrowing at his bedside heard the old chieftain mutter in his last delirium:

"The question is on adoption of the conference report."

By mandate more binding than any written law, Congress barely halted in reverence to mark the passing of the aged member. Knowing, as the years had taught him to know, the vital urgency of time in the closing days of a Congress, the former Speaker made known his will from what he knew was his deathbed. His wish was carried to both houses that no halt in public business should be made at his death.

In obedience to that behest, the House, peopled with his persona friends of whatever party, halted a short half-hour in adjournment, then marched on with its crowded programme.

In that pressing work Mr. Clark took active share up to little more than ten days ago, counseling his party colleagues as Democratic leader, until a cold struck him down to become a victim to the infirmities of his 70 years of driving life that reckoned nothing of his own physical welfare. His death threw a shadow over every face in the chamber when Representative Rucker, of the Missouri delegation, arose to announce it, voice choked with emotion. It was a halting eulogy he pronounced, but it drew from members signs of sorrow more eloquent than words to tell of the place the dead leader held in their affection and respect. The formal motion for a half hour adjournment was made by Representative Mondell, Republican leader.

Mr. Clark would have been 71 years old had he lived until next Monday but his 26 years' of service in the House would have ended Friday, for he was defeated for re-election.

In the subdued talk on the floor, or in cloakrooms while the House paused in honor of his memory, friends of years' standing scorned the suggestion that the stout heart of the Missourian had been shaken by political defeat That he had foreseen long in advance they said. It was a more personal matter that had broken his spirit, they insisted, the death a year ago of his idolized three-year-old grandson, and namesake, Champ Clark Thompson.

Since that blow, it was said, Mr Clark's colleagues had noted a waning of his keen interest in public affairs and a little drop to the massive shoulders so familiar through the years in the corridors of the Capitol.

There was one thing upon which they were all agreed, that Mr. Clark had died as he wished to die, in the harness of his life work. He had planned retirement to his home in Bowling Green, Mo., after March 4, but the end found him still serving his country and his state in the House.

Representative for twenty-six years of the Ninth district of Missouri and Speaker of the House for eight years Champ Clark had a career of near greatness that all but carried him into the Presidency during one of the most crucial periods in his country's history

None of the prominent politicians had a more spectacular rise toward the highest honor the country could give, only to fall short of winning it by the humiliating trick of fate at the very moment of apparent victory. The climax of a hitherto successful leadership was reached when he was the choice of a majority of his party for the Presidency on the memorable day of July 2, 1912, at the Baltimore Convention of the Democratic Party, when Woodrow Wilson was made the nominee through the support of William Jennings Bryan, supposed friend of the Missourian. The anti-climax was during Mr. Clark's service as Speaker of the House until March 4, 1919. Two more years in the ranks as a plain Representative, although minority leader, and then a stinging defeat by his own people for re-election, followed by an increasing sickness of heart and body, marked the closing days in the life of the erstwhile ambitious farm boy.

SPLENDID HEALTH RECORD IN FEBRUARY

Review of Work of Health Department For Past 18 Months

DISEASES DECREASES

Sanitary Work Accomplished —Over 200 Cases Investigated—Deaths Decrease

General summary of the work of the Department of Health, for the month of February, 1921.

It affords me great pleasure to be able to state that our city has been remarkably free from all serious contagious diseases, not only during the past month, but from the first of the year to this date.

Not a single case of diphtheria has been reported within the city limits since December last, nor have we had a case of scarlet fever since November last. This is little short of a miracle, when we consider both of these serious diseases have been generally prevalent all about outside of our city, and throughout the entire country as well.

We have had only 11 cases of pneumonia since January 1st, compared with 35 cases for the same period last year.

While we are looking backward, let us glance at our typhoid, diphtheria scarlet fever and smallpox record.

In 1918, we had over 200 typhoid cases, with 13 deaths.

In 1919 we reduced this to 83 cases and 8 deaths.

In 1920 we reduced it to only 46 cases, and 4 deaths.

In 1919 we had 21 cases of diphtheria, and in 1920, only 8 cases.

In 1919 we had 27 cases of scarlet fever, and in 1920, only 14 cases, and not a single case since.

Since the Health Department was organized on July 1st, 1919, to January 1st, 1921, a period of 18 months, we have had only 4 cases of smallpox in this city. Taking the previous 18 months, there were a total of 24 cases. The fact should be noted that smallpox has been generally prevalent throughout the United States during the past 6 months, and particularly so in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia. If this is so, why has our city of over 18,000 population escaped with only 4 cases since July 1st, 1919 to this date, March 1st 1921? It may be that the answer is we took all known precautions, and vaccinated over 800 children and adults during the period above mentioned. Who can say?

Smallpox, like typhoid, diphtheria and scarlet fever, is a strictly prevent able disease, if all due and reasonable measures are taken in advance.

Such diseases as mumps, whooping cough, measles and chicken pox, are preventable only in a small degree compared with the above, as rigid quarantine and other preventive measures cannot be applied as effectively nor can we locate these diseases in their early infectious period.

The detailed report shows a large amount of general sanitary work has been accomplished. Over 200 complaints have been investigated and 119 nuisances; each one a menace to the public health; have been abated during the month. We secured 28 sewer connections, exactly one per day. This means that 28 buildings, each housing one or more families, are now for the first time, disposing human waste in a safe and sanitary manner, and will no longer constitute an ever present typhoid menace. Between now and April 1st, we intend to see that many more unsewered buildings are connected.

Over 200 inspections of food and drink handling establishments have been made, and more than 1,500 lbs of meat, unfit for human consumption have been condemned and destroyed.

Our clinic has done more work than ever before. 48 patients were treated during the month, and 268 treatments given. The value of this work in relation to the public health, cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

Our laboratory has been busy as usual, as the report fully shows.

Our public health nurse has done more work than ever before, both in our clinic and general outside work.

No fair-minded person can read over our detailed monthly reports, without realizing the vast amount of varied, useful and constructive work being accomplished quietly, but effectively, for the public safety and general welfare of our city and its 18,000 inhabitants.

During the month of January and February, we had a total of 43 deaths from all causes. During the same months of last year, the record was 94 deaths.

Total deaths from listed communicable diseases for year 1920, was 81, compared with 85 for year of 1919. This reduction of 4 deaths was made despite the fact that during January and February of 1920 we had an epidemic of influenza-pneumonia, causing 31 deaths. If we should deduct this incident, the comparison would be far more favorable.

During the past month we have had quite a number of cases of measles, mumps and some chicken pox, but the city has been comparatively free from all serious communicable diseases, for which we should be duly thankful.

Respectfully submitted,
Louis E. Foulks.
City Health Office and Assistant Collaborating Epidemiologist, U. S. Public Health Service.

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT. We look before and after, and pine for what is not; our sincerest laughter with some pain is fraught; our sweetest songs are those, that tell of saddest thought.

Shelley.

Words. The origin of words is always interesting. Language has been called fossil history. Words are the records of the progress of nations. New ideas have begotten new words. Words have mostly two origins. There are the poets, or makers of words; and the people, who often express the spirit of the times in slang. But what is slang in one generation becomes classic in another. Besides, every man is a poet by nature.

The Latin nations are more imaginative than the Anglo-Saxon. The lighter poetry is to them more native. By lighter poetry we mean that which relies not so much upon the thought as the music. Fancy plays a greater part than depth of idea. A striking illustration of this is our word "nightingale". This comes from an old anglo-saxon word meaning "to sing in the night." How much more poetical and fanciful are the French, Spanish, and Italian names for this king of all song birds. The French call him the "rossignol"; the Italians, the "usignuolo"; and the Spanish, the "ruisenor". The old Latin, from which all these are derived, was "luscinola". How far more musical than our English words! Some attempt to imitate the liquid notes that bubble from his throat, there may be. Words indicate the stage of a nation's culture. We can tell often when a new religious idea was born; when a new conception of liberty dawned upon a people; when it took a step upward to a higher plane of civilization. Nay, even the kinship of peoples whose connection is lost amidst the mists of pre-historic migrations, has been traced through certain words common to all of them. The mighty Aryan race numbers among its children the Celt, the Teuton, the Greek, the Slav, the Persian, and claims them by reason of a common ancestry traced through a common tongue.

The subject is vast but fascinating. It is well worth consideration if not study. There are numbers of books upon the subject and the layman will find some of them as interesting as a modern novel, and far more valuable in his mental culture.

Distinction Without Difference. The Washington Herald says today, editorially, "Chicago is said to have 10,000 of its population engaged in crime as a business. There is a distinction here between putting business in crime and crime in business." A distinction, Brother Mitchell, but no difference, at least to the people who are held up!

Tuberculosis Field

Finding the Early Case of the Dreaded Disease

Much has been written, and a gratifying amount of good work has been done, in directing the general practitioner toward the importance of early diagnosis in pulmonary tuberculosis, and early diagnosis has been emphasized as the sine qua non of success in our dealing with that disease. The constantly increasing number of incipient cases received for treatment at our state tuberculosis sanatoria is proof of the fact that physicians are demonstrating improved technic in chest examinations, depending upon clinical thermometer, pulse rate, and history more, and less on physical findings and sputum examination.

The problem of getting the early case of tuberculosis to go to his physician for examination is an absolute pre-requisite to early diagnosis. Tuberculosis clinics have helped some to this end, but there is a greater need than has yet been supplied by the tuberculosis clinic and the field it covers under present conditions. The patient himself must be reached. He not only must be reached, but he must be told the early symptoms of pulmonary tuberculosis, and he must be told in such fashion that he will recognize the necessity for action on his part, and he must be told in such fashion that he will go to his physician as soon as he recognizes this necessity.

Is not this possible through proper publicity, through the judicious use of newspaper and street car advertising space under the auspices of the local tuberculosis clinic or the local tuberculosis society? Consider with what little expense this might be done. In Richmond, for instance!

With an appropriate display line, insert weekly in the Richmond and other city newspapers an advertisement approximating the following copy:

"The object of this advertisement is to instruct people in the early symptoms of tuberculosis, or consumption, so that they will go to physicians before it is too late.

Suspicious Symptoms

"Cough or expectoration, even if only a little in the morning, which you hardly notice, if continued over two months.

"Frequent bronchial, grip or fever attacks very suspicious.

"Blood spitting. If blood is coughed up, the cause is tuberculosis nine times in ten.

"Pleurisy. Caused by tuberculosis about seven times in ten.

"Night sweats. Very suspicious.

"Loss of weight and loss of strength. Very suspicious, especially if there is slight cough.

"If any of these symptoms are present, no matter how well you look or feel, Cut out this advertisement, take it to your physician, and explain your case.

"Tuberculosis can be cured if taken in time.

"Hundreds of patients who have been treated in the State sanatoria are well today.

"See your physician today, or call at the Local Tuberculosis Society."

An advertisement modeled along the lines of the above could be inserted weekly, fifty-two times, in the afternoon papers in Alexandria at a reasonable figure. Street car advertisements embodying the same copy could be used on street cars in Alexandria and suburban lines. If it should send only six early cases to their physician for diagnosis, it would be money well spent.

Perhaps some public spirited individual might make a contribution to the Alexandria or other Tuberculosis Society for this purpose. It would mark a departure in anti-tuberculosis work which has great potential value in locating early cases of tuberculosis.

STOMACH O. K.

Indigestion, Acidity, Sourness and Gases ended with "Pape's Diapepsin"

Millions of people know that it is needless to be bothered with indigestion, dyspepsia or a disordered stomach. A few tablets of Pape's Diapepsin neutralize acidity and give relief at once.

When your meals don't fit and you feel uncomfortable, when you belch gases, acids or raise sour, undigested food. When you feel lumps of indigestion pain, heartburn or headache from acidity, just eat a tablet of Pape's Diapepsin and the stomach distress is gone.

The cost is so little. The benefits so great. You, too, will be a Diapepsin enthusiast afterwards.

SAYS HE WAS "STUNG"

Editor
Alexandria Gazette,

Apropos the "deplorable" condition of the city sidewalks as referred to by the Civic Bureau. The writer has been for some time contemplating replaying his own sidewalk but his experience of last fall when he was "stung" to the extent of $35.00 for having three chimneys pointed which took one man eight hours to do, using probably a peck of cement and a dozen old bricks; when the brick layer said it would take two men two days, and that a scaffold would have to be built, which latter was not done. Perhaps if the Bureau or the City Engineer could make some arrangement by which the work could be done at a fair price more sidewalks would be in good condition.

Yours respectfully,
"Observer."

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear baby, AGNES CORBIN, who departed this life three years ago, March 3, 1918.

Precious darling she has left us,
Yes, forever more,
But we hope to meet our loved one
On that bright and happy shore.
Lonely is the house, and sad are the hours,
Since our dear one has gone,
In heaven is now her own.
By her loving Papa and Mama.

Darling Agnes she has left us,
Left us yes, for evermore,
But we hope to meet our loved one
On that bright and happy shore.
By her loving sisters and brothers.

We had a little treasure once,
We loved her ah perhaps too well,
For soon she slept and died,
All is dark within our dwelling,
Lonely are our hearts today,
For the one we loved so dearly,
Has forever passed away.
By her loving brother, Edward.

RHEUMATISM
Leaves You Forever

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if two bottles of Allenrhu, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenrhu, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenrhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed all druggists to guarantee it in every instance.

A Wonderful Opportunity

ONE THAT HAS NEVER OCCURRED BEFORE
THERE WILL NOT BE SUCH A CHANCE AGAIN

SEE WHAT WE GIVE YOU—

In order to bring our remarkable book "LOVE AND WAR" before the public we are making a most unusual offer. "LOVE AND WAR" is a romantic novel, full of life and fire and passion. A tale of heroism and love's reward. It is vivid and arresting; once you begin you cannot stop until you have read to the end. It makes the tears come to your eyes, and your heart beat fast with excitement, for it takes you to the actual scene of conflict—tells you things that have never been told before. Read what Lieutenant Cross of the Canadian Air Force, says about it:—

"I have read 'Love and War.' It is vivid and thrilling. I myself took an active part in the War, and so am in a position to judge the truth of the descriptions. They are REAL. The book gave me a new insight into the conditions that existed at the Front. The happy way in which Romance is blended with Reality makes it a most outstanding book—one that should be read by everybody who is interested in the doings of fair women and brave men.

"Yours very truly,
"Ronald Cross,
"Lieutenant, C.A.F."

The published price of this remarkable book is $3.50. We make a special offer at the very low price of..... $2.50

In addition to the above, we send to you, absolutely FREE

A Reliable Watch

This Splendid Timekeeper is made by the largest makers of watches in the world. It is handsome and reliable; a Watch that any man or woman would be proud to own. This is not a cheap thing, but a Watch that costs $2.50 in any U.S.A. store, or $3.35 in any Canadian store. When you receive it, compare it with the watches in any jewellers—you will see that the watch we give you is the same as those sold at the prices we have named.

BUT THAT IS NOT ALL.

We also send you, as a free gift, FIVE SPLENDID BOOKS, printed on good paper, handsomely bound, well illustrated, that sell at 60 cents apiece—$3.00 in all. These are good, clean fiction for men and women, boys and girls. You will read them over and over again. We will make a selection of 5 from a series and send them Free, so that you will know THE WORLD PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION, and tell your friends about us.

To those who send their orders before March 10th, 1921, we make a further present of 10 Useful Household Articles. So see that your order is in on time.

WHY WE MAKE THIS UNIQUE OFFER.

No doubt you are asking yourself how anybody could give such a remarkable amount of goods, all for the small sum of $2.50. As you know, it costs any advertiser many thousands of dollars to get his name and his goods before the public. Often it is a question of years, as well as of money, before people all over the country know about a firm. We have decided to MAKE OURSELVES KNOWN, so that there is not a home where THE WORLD PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION is not a familiar name. And this is the method we have adopted. We believe that if we GIVE YOU SOMETHING, such as it has never been given before, you will learn about us more quickly and more satisfactorily than if you saw our name a thousand times. But you have to hurry up. Send in your order before March 10th and take advantage of our Great Free Offer.

DO NOT WAIT—DO NOT DELAY

TWO RAILROADS TO CUT PAY OF COMMON LABOR

New York, March 3.—Two large trunk line railroads served notice yesterday that they intend to reduce wages paid their unskilled or common labor, and officials of the Association of Railway Executives declared they had no doubt other carriers soon would take similar steps throughout the country.

This action was started yesterday by the New York Central and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroads, Both called representatives of their common labor for conferences on the subject. Should they fail to agree, the matter would be referred to the Railroad Labor Board.

Adjustment to lower levels of the pay of common labor employed by carriers was put up to the individual companies in a letter from the Association of Railway Executives February 22.

"I'LL TALK WITH 'ANYONE'"

DO YOU know how to make a long distance telephone call?

If you have business to transact with the John Smith Company in Washington, for instance, there is more than one kind of a call you can make.

If anyone at that place will do, make a station-to-station call. Give the long distance operator the telephone number, or the name and address and be sure to tell her you will talk with "anyone".

If it is essential that you talk with Mr. Smith or some other particular person, make a person-to-person call. In addition to the number, tell the operator who you want to talk to. A person-to-person call means extra operating work and it costs about one-fourth more than a station-to-station call.

Read the general information pages of your telephone directory for full explanation of all the various kinds of long distance calls and how to make them.

As soon as I began taking Chasco Vin I felt the change. I took three bottles in all and now I feel like my old self again. It brought the old pep back, too. ADVANCE READER

The attraction at the Idle Hour Theatre, Saturday, will be "Dinty," in which young Wesley Barry makes his bow to the picture loving public in his first actual starring vehicle, directed by Marshall Neilan, who also wrote the story himself.

Advance reports state that the freckle-faced youngster of "Daddy Long Legs," "Don't Ever Marry" and "Go Get It" has in this latest film made the finest performance of his brief but brilliant career.

At any rate, Mr. Neilan has surrounded Wesley Barry with an excellent cast of players, including such favorites as Colleen Moore, J. Barney Sherry, Marjorie Daw, Pat O'Malley, Noah Beery, Tom Gallery, Kate Price, Tom Wilson and Newton Hall.

The balance of the cast includes Walter Chung, a young Chinaman, and Aaron Mitchell, a pickaninny, who plays the part of Barry's chums in "Dinty."

"Dinty" is the tale of a fighting San Francisco newsboy, "Dinty," O'Sullivan. It deals with his rise to the head of the Newsboys' Trust, and the prominent part he plays in running down a band of Malay highbinders who have stolen the assistant district attorney's nancee. Pathos, humor, romance and adventure are the four elements that Marshall Neilan has woven into the plot.

Marion Fairfax, the clever subtitler of "Go and Get It" and other screen successes, prepared the scenario for "Dinty" from Mr. Neilan's story. Many of the scenes were photographed in San Francisco's Chinatown and waterfront, and some remarkable effects are said to have been obtained.

It is abundantly watered by wells and never failing springs and the waters of Little Bull Run. This tract contains about 125 acres of splendid virgin timber, and the balance is tillable, easily cultivated and produces well; has a large field of bluegrass.

TRACT NO. THREE

TRACT NO. 3 contains 116 acres, with splendid six-room house and fronts on the Carolina Road. It has about 20 acres of good virgin timber, and the balance in wheat and rye and stubble land, ready for corn; a good well and splendid building sites. This land produces well.

TRACT NO. FOUR

TRACT NO. 4 contains 100 acres, is a splendid tract of land and produces well. Most of it is in timothy now. It has about 25 acres of timber land and is well fenced.
